President's Report

Welcome to the latest edition of Bordertales. Our next general meeting (the last for the year) will be held on Tuesday 9th December and we extend a warm welcome to any members who may wish to attend. Helen Anderson from Natural Therapies Clinic will be attending this meeting to talk about and demonstrate her services and we will be enjoying this over a light supper. Helen donated a couple of 'sessions' as prizes at our last show and has again generously offered to donate to our next show in April, 2009 so it would be great if members could support this meeting. Please contact our Secretary Ann Moy if you require any further information.

Committee members (in particular Ann and Brett!!) have been busy this month updating the club's website...this is a work in progress but if you spot anything that needs changing or have any suggestions as to additional content you would like to see on the website, please let us know.

Pet Expo 2009 was held during the month and the club was represented at this three day event by Kelly Gill, Ann Gemmell, Ann Lenehan and Julie Lawrie - thank you to all for your efforts. Kelly will provide photos and further information for inclusion in Bordertales.

Summer is upon us - and with this season comes the usual 'problems' for our Borders - snakes (several 'sightings' already for us at Bringelly!), heatstress, thunderstorms, ticks, fleas, etc.....please take extra care to ensure the safety and good health of your dogs during this time.

The 2nd Border Collie National Show/Obedience/Performance and Herding trial will be held in March, 2009 - the host club is the NSW Southern Districts Country Border Collie Club and full details on this exciting event can be obtained via their website - regular updates are being posted so please check back often to keep up to date with developments.

Congratulations are in order for our very talented Trophy Officer, Colleen Finch who recently won Best in Show - with a Border Collie - but not at your usual sort of dog show!! Colleen won BIS at the Fishers Ghost Arts & Craft Show - a very popular and well supported craft show at Campbelltown in Sydney's south west - with a gorgeous ceramic bowl she had made which featured the face of a Border Collie!! The bowl was just beautiful and the win so well deserved! Well done Colleen!

Until next month.....

Cheers

Lauren Somers - President

Ch. Danari Danceth Waves

Sire: Ch. Monochrome Maestro / Dam: Gr Ch. Danari Dance Away

We were delighted to win BEST IN SHOW at the club's 56th championship show with "Pepe", Ch. Danari Danceth Waves, the second time he has won this award, the first time being April 2007. Its certainly been a "family affair" recently, with his mother, "Heidi" Gr Ch. Danari Dance Away winning Best in Show at this show in March 2008 and his sister "Aasha" Ch Danari Danceth Nite Away owned by Di Lisk winning R/Up Best in Show in October 2007. Pep has been lightly shown to enable our other young males to have their turns in the ring but we are very proud of what he has achieved with limited opportunities and look forward to more fun and hopefully more success in future.

Website Update ..

Over the last couple of months the Border Collie Club of NSW web site has been having a major update. While the work is still not complete we do need some input from members. We are missing photos of some of the older dogs who were winners in conformation, agility and obedience. To look at the updates that have been completed, go to www.bccnsw.com and look around. There is also a new members area where past copies of Bordertales can be downloaded from. The username for the members only area is bccnsw and the password bcs4me.

If you have something to contribute then please send these onto the webmaster at webmaster@bccnsw.com

Draft Breed Survey re CL, TNS and CEA

Rationale: DNA tests are now available to determine the genotype (Normal, Carrier or Affected) of Border Collies for the two fatal conditions Neronal Ceroid Lipofucinos (CL), & Trapped Neutrophil Syndrome (TNS) and also the non-fatal eye affliction, Collie Eye Anomaly (CEA). These three conditions are all inherited as autosomal recessive traits and, in each case, both parents have to be Carriers or Affecteds to produce affected offspring. Most concerned breeders are already testing breeding stock to ensure that no more Border Collies will ever be born affected by CL, TNS or CEA.

There is absolutely no reason to eliminate any animals carrying any of the three conditions from the gene pool, now or in the future. The whole point of using these tests is to preserve all bloodlines while ensuring puppies are not affected by these conditions. Preservation of a diverse gene pool is imperative to avoid increasing the risk of other genetic problems occurring within the breed. We now have the means to completely control CL, TNS and CEA and prevent any puppies being affected by them. On the other hand, we have no control over other health problems that may have a genetic cause and are known to occur sporadically within the breed.

Narrowing the gene pool will increase the incidence of conditions including epilepsy, PDA heart defects, thyroid problems, undescended testicles, glaucoma, HD, OCD and various auto immune disorders that have been identified but are not yet considered "breed problems". Not to mention the genetic problems we don't even know about yet.

One of the reasons we have so many TNS carriers in the breed now is the fact that CL carriers had to be avoided for 20 years before the DNA test was developed, as this was our only means of reducing the incidence of CL. This narrowed the gene pool to the state we now have with so many Border Collies descended from just a few animals who were believed to be Normal for CL. These same animals we now know were in fact Normal for CL but a number of them were also carrying TNS.

The TNS gene goes back to the origins of the breed as it occurs in ISDS lines as well as show lines but the avoidance of CL carriers has greatly increased the number of TNS carriers.

Genotype for each condition may be determined by DNA testing or by parentage. All progeny from a DNA Normal to Normal mating will be DNA normal. To be declared Normal by parentage for any of the three conditions, the DNA genotype Normal of the parents will have to be recorded on the ANKC database. Official results submitted to the database will only be accepted where the DNA sample sent for testing is from a microchipped animal and was taken and identified by an authorised collector (eg: vet, breed club official). At this stage, further DNA testing or profiling to verify parentage will not be required but breeders are reminded that a litter registration application is a legal document.

DNA testing for CL & CEA first became available in 2005 but not all dogs were microchipped at this time. Many Border Collies including some that have stored frozen semen have DNA test results for CL & TNS from samples submitted before microchipping was routine. To allow for the use of these animals or semen without "official" results we have set the date requiring official results to be for all animals born after 1 January 2005.

To ensure that all breeders adhere to responsible breeding guidelines the National Border Collie Council requests that the ANKC conducts a breed survey of all registered owners of Border Collies asking the following questions. Each question is to be voted on separately.

Please circle your choice, ie Agree or Disagree

1. CL: Breeders should establish the DNA status of all breeding stock born after 1 January 2005. That for litters born from 1 January 2010 the following litter registration restrictions apply in relation to CL:

- At least one parent of every litter must be DNA Normal for CL by testing or by parentage.
- No CL DNA Affected animals are to be bred from.
- Acceptable matings for CL are DNA Normal/Normal or Normal/Carrier where both parents are born after 1 January 2005.
- Animals born before 1 January 2005 need not have official test results or may be untested provided they are only bred to a DNA Normal partner. This will allow for the use of older animals that may not have been microchipped when samples were taken for testing and the indefinite use of valuable frozen semen that has been stored to protect the future of the breed.

Agree / Disagree

2. TNS: Breeders should establish the DNA status of all breeding stock born after 1 January 2005. That for litters born from 1 January 2010 the following litter registration restrictions apply in relation to TNS.

- At least one parent of every litter must be Normal for TNS by testing or by parentage.
- No TNS DNA Affected animals are to be bred from.
- Acceptable matings for TNS are DNA Normal/Normal or Normal/Carrier where both parents are born after 1 January 2005.
- Animals born before 1 January 2005 need not have official test results or may be untested provided they are only bred to a DNA Normal partner. This will allow for the use of older animals that may not have been microchipped when samples were taken for testing and the indefinite use of valuable frozen semen that has been stored to protect the future of the breed.

Agree / Disagree

3. CEA: Breeders should establish the DNA status of all breeding stock born after 1 January 2005. That for litters born from 1 January 2010 the following litter registration restrictions apply in relation to CEA.

- At least one parent of every litter must be Normal for CEA by testing or by parentage.
- CEA DNA Affected animals must be mated to DNA Normal.
- Acceptable matings for CEA are DNA Normal/Normal or Normal/Carrier or Normal/Affected where both parents are born after 1 January 2005.
- Animals born before 1 January 2005 need not have official test results or may be untested provided they are only bred to a DNA Normal partner. This will allow for the use of older animals that may not have been microchipped when samples were taken for testing and the indefinite use of valuable frozen semen that has been stored to protect the future of the breed.

Agree / Disagree

NOTE:

Genotype for each condition may be determined by DNA testing or by parentage. All progeny from a DNA Normal to Normal mating will be DNA normal. To be declared Normal by parentage for any of the three conditions, the DNA genotype Normal of the parents will have to be recorded on the ANKC database. Official results submitted to the database will only be accepted where the DNA sample sent for testing is from a microchipped animal and was taken and identified by an authorised collector (eg: vet, breed club official).

At this stage, further DNA testing or profiling to verify parentage will not be required but breeders are reminded that a litter registration application is a legal document.

BCC of NSW 56TH CHAMPIONSHIP SHOW

RESULTS, CRITIQUES, PHOTOS

Judges' General Views and Comments on Placed Dogs

My sincere thanks to the club for the opportunity to judge your 56th Championship Show.

I enjoyed the dogs on show immensely. The quality of the entries was extremely high. From puppy to open class they generally met the key requirements of the breed standard. Well proportioned dogs, smooth outline and showing quality, gracefulness and perfect balance.

I realise that the extended gaiting was a surprise to a number of exhibitors, but a key requirement for a good Border is quality movement. The gaiting was not a race but simply an opportunity for each Border to show the smooth, tireless gait we look for. Most handled the gaiting comfortably with the final placings all based on the style displayed.
